2025 WILDCATS

CHIP HALE • HEAD COACH

ALMA MATER: Arizona (1987)

YEAR AT ARIZONA: 4th

Standout former Arizona Wildcat Chip Hale, an NCAA National Champion player and a World Series Champion coach, enters his fourth season in charge of his alma mater's program in 2025. He was named the next Head Coach of Arizona Baseball by Vice President and Director of Athletics Dave Heeke on July 5, 2021 and officially introduced in a press conference on Wednesday, July 7, 2021.

With the Wildcats

Hale, the 2024 Pac-12 Coach of the Year, has found tremendous success in his first three seasons at the helm in Tucson. As a proud alumni he has led the program to three consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, the 2024 Pac-12 regular season and tournament championships, and over 100 wins. After winning Pac-12 Coach of the Year in his third season he became the first person in Pac-12 baseball history to win both Pac-12 Player of the Year (1987) and Pac-12 Coach of the Year (2024). Along the way Hale has produced two first round MLB Draft selections, four All-Americans, 13 Pac-12 All-Conference honorees, the second Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year in program history, and much more. Under Hale's direction, Arizona was one of only four college programs in the nation, and the only school on the west coast, with first round MLB Draft selections in both 2022 and 2023. He is only the second head coach in program history to earn NCAA Tournament bids in each of his first three seasons.

2024 Season

Hale's 2024 Wildcats impressed on a national level and blew away all preseason expectations, going from picked to finish ninth in the Pac-12 Preseason Coaches Poll to winning the conference regular season and tournament championships, picking up the program's 43rd NCAA Tournament appearance, and earning a regional host bid. Arizona finished the season ranked No. 21 by Baseball America, their first time ending the season ranked since 2021. The Wildcats tremendous success earned Hale the honor of being selected as the Pac-12 Coach of the Year.

Significantly improved pitching and timely hitting were the keys to success for the 2024 Wildcats, with the former spearheaded by Hale's hiring of assistant coach Kevin Vance to lead Arizona's pitching staff and the latter executed by his promotion and retention of assistant coach Toby DeMello. Under their guidance, six Wildcats picked up Pac-12 All-Conference nods, tied for the most in program history.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT CHIP HALE

Paul Goldschmidt — Seven-time MLB All-Star, 2022 AL MVP
"I'm very happy for Chip and the University of Arizona! Chip is a great coach and leader and I know he will do his best to continue and grow the great legacy at Arizona. I learned a lot from him while I was with the Diamondbacks and I know his decades of experience in baseball will be great for all the student-athletes who get to play for him."

AJ Hinch — Manager, Detriot Tigers
"He will work with the kids and develop a great identity for that University. He has great passion for that place; he talked about (Arizona) as much as he talked about his Major League career as a coach and a player. They're getting a baseball guy with a ton of passion for the community."

Bob Melvin — Manager, Oakland Athletics
"Chip is the perfect fit for Arizona Baseball. He's local, an alumni, and has always been passionate about the school. I've always said that Chip can teach a Little Leaguer and a Big Leaguer equally as well. His experience in baseball is second to none and his competitiveness and will to win is off the charts. What a great hire."

Kevin Long — 1986 NCAA National Champion & Washington Nationals Hitting Coach
"Chip Hale exemplifies what an Arizona Wildcat is all about. The commitment to excellence on and off the field will be a top priority. Chip has always been a grinder and understands there are no shortcuts to success. I couldn't be more excited for Chip and the Arizona Baseball program. Bear Down!"

Dallas Braden — Five-year Major Leaguer
"Having worked with Chip & having him as a bench coach I always felt like he would be PERFECT for the college game. Prepared. Motivated. Grinder. Disciplined. Regimented. He will have expectations & should those young athletes pay attention they will exceed them on & off the field."

Alan Trammell — Special Assistant to the General Manager, Detroit Tigers
"You couldn't get a better hire! All the attributes you want in a head coach. Hard working, dedicated, knowledgeable, and love the game. The University of Arizona has hired the right man!"

Billy Owens — Oakland Athletics Assistant General Manager and Arizona Alum
"Chip Hale is the perfect hire for the Arizona Wildcats. I met Chip my freshman year at Arizona and knew he would manage in the Majors and become a successful collegiate coach immediately. He brings an unmatched work ethic, infectious enthusiasm, winning makeup, and incredible integrity to Hi Corbett Field. He'll challenge for the best recruits in the country, coach them with passion, prepare them for the next level, and graduate a high percentage of his student-athletes. Huge day for present, future, and alumni Wildcats. Looking forward to sustained excellence and championship-caliber baseball in the Old Pueblo."

AJ Pollock — 2020 World Series Champion, 12-year MLB Veteran
I loved playing for Chip Hale during my time with the Diamondbacks. He's a great baseball guy and more importantly, a great person. I'm excited for the Arizona Wildcats and the future of their baseball program."

The Wildcats as a team earned the moniker of "Cardiac Cats" due to their resilience and ability to mount heroic comebacks. Eight times Arizona walked off their opponents in 2024, including a pair of late-inning comebacks over Oregon State and USC that sealed their Pac-12 regular season and Tournament championships, respectively.

Leading the charge on offense were Tucson native shortstop Mason White and outfielder Brendan Summerhill, both players identified, recruited, and developed exclusively by Hale and his staff. White and Summerhill, both Pac-12 All-Conference selections, combined for 150 hits, 28 doubles, eight triples, 27 home runs, and 124 RBI. White's 19 home runs were the eighth most hit by a Wildcat in a single season in program history and tied for second most in the Pac-12 in 2024. Summerhill paced the team and ranked 14th in the conference with a .324 batting average, while his six triples were second most on the circuit. Second baseman Garen Caulfield also enjoyed a career year for the Cats in 2024, earning Pac-12 All-Conference honors after collecting 74 hits and 42 RBI to go along with a .310 batting average.

Arizona's offense excelled with speed in 2024, leading the Pac-12 and ranking third nationally with 26 triples — it marked the third time in three years under the direction of coach Hale that the Wildcats paced the conference in baseball's most exciting play.

Hale's biggest success may have come in the hiring of Vance, however, as the Wildcats pitching staff dropped their ERA over a run and a half from 5.97 in 2023 to 4.46 in 2024. Vance's leadership helped steer all three members of the Arizona starting rotation — Jackson Kent, Clark Candiotti, and Cam Walty — to Pac-12 All-Conference selections. It is believed to be the first time in program history that three starting pitchers earned All-Conference recognition. Vance's 2024 Wildcats led the entire nation in strikeout-to-walk ratio, BB/9 rate, and fewest walks.

Under Hale and Vance's direction, the Wildcats saw four pitchers selected in the 2024 MLB Draft, the most for the program since 2013. Starting pitchers Jackson Kent (4th round, Nationals), Clark Candiotti (4th round, Padres), and Cam Walty (20th round, Guardians) were joined by elite bullpen arm Anthony Susac (8th round, Rangers) in hearing their names called during the 2024 Draft.

2023 Season

The 2023 Wildcats made a furious charge down the final stretch of the season, advancing all the way to the Pac-12 Tournament Championship Game and earning a spot in the NCAA Fayetteville Regional, the 42nd NCAA Tournament appearance in program history.

Arizona's many outstanding offensive performances in 2023 were highlighted by the slugging efforts of first baseman Kiko Romero and outfielder Chase Davis, the former of whom broke the Wildcats single-season RBI record and the latter of which finished his time in Tucson third all-time on the program's career home run leaderboard. Romero and Davis co-led the Pac-12 with 21 home runs apiece, tied for the third greatest efforts in school history. Both players would go on to earn selection in the 2023 MLB Draft, with Davis going 21st overall in the first round to the St. Louis Cardinals and Romero earning a seventh round pick by the New York Yankees.

Overall, the Arizona offense finished the year first in the Pac-12 in batting average, slugging percentage, doubles, triples, and extra-base hits. It didn't end at the conference level, the Wildcats lineup also ranked among the most dangerous in the entire nation, finishing the year ranked among the Top 20 teams in the country in batting average, doubles, doubles per game, hits, runs, scoring, slugging percentage, triples, and triples per game.

Arizona's defense improved again under coach Hale, leaping from a .972 fielding percentage in year one to a .977 mark in year two that ranked second in the Pac-12. Wildcat shortstop Nik McClaughry led the way to earn Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year honors and a finalist distinction for a Rawlings Gold Glove as a reward.

In addition to the selections of Davis and Romero, three more Wildcats heard their names called in the 2023 MLB Draft. Right-handed pitcher TJ Nichols was picked up in the sixth round by the Tampa Bay Rays, while McClaughry and right-handed pitcher Chris Barraza were selected in the 10th round by the San Diego Padres and Los Angeles Angels, respectively.

Davis and Romero both picked up All-America selections following the year, while first-year infielder and Tucson native Mason White earned Freshman All-America honors.

2022 Season

In 2022, Hale's first season leading the charge at Arizona, the program continued their historical run of success, highlighted by the program's 41st trip to the NCAA Tournament and a pair of elimination game victories at the NCAA Coral Gables Regional. Hale was one of one of just four first-year head coaches in the country to earn a spot in the 2022 NCAA Tournament.

On February 18, 2022 the Wildcats took down Kansas State, 8-6, to earn coach Hale his first victory as head coach. Arizona finished the year with a record of 39-25 and a winning conference record of 17-15.

Following the season two Wildcats under Hale's guidance heard their names called in the Major League Baseball Draft. All-American catcher Daniel Susac was selected 19th overall by the Oakland Athletics, making him the 12th first round pick in program history. All-Pac-12 outfielder Tanner O'Tremba was also picked up by the San Francisco Giants in the 15th round.

Arizona's success on the field in 2022 was driven by a balanced approach that focused on excelling at the plate, on the mound, and in the field.

Offensively, the Wildcats finished the year ranked among the top four teams in the Pac-12 in runs, hits, triples, home runs, RBI, walks, total bases, and extra-base hits. Led by the likes of Susac, O'Tremba, Chase Davis, Garen Caulfield, and more, Arizona averaged over 6.5 runs per game. Under Hale's direction Susac collected 100 hits, tied for sixth nationally and making him just the 10th player in program history to post a 100-hit season. The 2022 Wildcats paced the conference with 26 triples, marking the sixth time since moving to Hi Corbett in 2012 that Arizona led the Pac-12 in baseball's most exciting play.

The Wildcats also showed immense improvement on defense over the course of the season, finishing the campaign with a .972 fielding percentage that was five points higher than the previous year's mark and the Wildcats best defensive performance since 2018. The '22 Cats also excelled at twin killings, wrapping up the year ranked fourth in the nation with 57 double plays turned.

On the mound, Arizona placed two pitchers on the Pac-12's All-Conference squad. Southpaw Garrett Irvin earned the first all-conference honors of his career, while right-hander Quinn Flanagan became the first Wildcat relief pitcher to earn a First Team Pac-12 All-Conference selection since 2016.

Before Arizona

Hale, the Wildcats all-time leader in games played, hits, and total bases during his time in Tucson from 1984-87, returned to Arizona with nearly two decades of professional coaching experience. He is the sixth head coach in Arizona Baseball's modern history, and the 17th overall.

"I am thrilled and excited to have Chip lead our iconic baseball program," Heeke said at the time of his hiring. "Chip has long been a member of the Wildcat Family as a former student-athlete and has always remained close to our University and to our Tucson community. He has played and coached at the highest levels of the game and brings an unbridled passion and enthusiasm to his work. I have no doubt that Chip embraces the Wildcat Way mission we share at Arizona Athletics, and that he will mentor and develop future generations of Wildcat champions on the diamond, in the classroom, and in the community."

Hale returned to Tucson from Detroit, where he served as the third base coach for the Tigers in 2021. Across time with Detroit, the Washington Nationals (2018-20), Oakland Athletics (2012-14, 2017), Arizona Diamondbacks (2007-09, 2015-16), and New York Mets (2010-11), Hale has compiled 15 years of coaching experience at the highest level baseball has to offer.

"I am very honored and excited to be the new head baseball coach at the University of Arizona," Hale said in July 2021. "We will work tirelessly to build on the success that has been established here and continue to coach and develop our Wildcats to be champions on the field and in the classroom. With the help and support of the University of Arizona and the Wildcat Family, we plan on making many trips to Omaha!"

During his decade and a half in Major League Baseball, Hale's most notable stop was as the manager for the Arizona Diamondbacks from 2015-16. While leading the D-backs he compiled nearly 150 wins and steered the performances of All-Stars Paul Goldschmidt and A.J. Pollock. In his first season in Phoenix in 2015, the D-backs finished among the top three teams in the National League in batting average, runs, hits, doubles, triples, home runs, stolen bases, on-base percentage, and slugging percentage.

Prior to his time in Detroit, Hale spent three years serving as the Washington Nationals bench coach from 2018-20. His time in the nation's capital was highlighted by a 2019 World Series Championship, the franchise's first title.

Over the course of his Major League coaching career, Hale has helped guide the development of Bryce Harper, Juan Soto, Trea Turner, Anthony Rendon, Matt Chapman, Paul Goldschmidt, Zack Greinke, Josh Donaldson, Dan Haren, Justin Upton, and many more.

Hale got his coaching start in professional baseball with the Triple-A Tucson Sidewinders, where he served as the club's skipper from 2004-06. His stint in the minors culminated with the wildly successful 2006 campaign in which the Sidewinders went 91-53 and won the Pacific Coast League, earning Hale PCL Manager of the Year honors.

In his four-year career for the Wildcats, the legendary infielder picked up a 1986 NCAA National Championship, 1987 Pac-10 South Player of the Year honors, First Team All-Pac-10 South recognition, and the 1987 Tom Hansen Medal. To this day he still holds Arizona career records with 255 games played, 978 at-bats, 337 hits, 162 walks, and 507 total bases. Hale was inducted into the Arizona Sports Hall of Fame in 1994.

Following his standout collegiate career, Hale was selected by the Minnesota Twins in the 17th round of the 1987 MLB Draft. He went on to enjoy a seven-year Major League career with the Twins and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hale is joined in Tucson by his wife, Judi; together they have three children, Jack, Edward, and Sabrina, and one granddaughter, Palmer.

TRIP COUCH • ASSISTANT COACH

ALMA MATER: Louisiana-Lafayette (1991)

YEAR AT ARIZONA: 4th

Trip Couch was hired as an assistant coach by Arizona Baseball and head coach Chip Hale on July 15, 2021. He enters his fourth season with the Wildcats in 2025.

"I am thrilled to add Trip Couch, an experienced college coach and praised national recruiter, to our coaching staff," Hale said at the time of his hiring. "It was crucial we add a relentless and successful recruiter to further the goals of the program we're building, and coach Couch is the perfect person to fill that role. He will make an immediate impact on our current student-athletes and add to our roster by attracting the top talent in the country to join us in Tucson. With the addition of coach Couch, we are building a world-class coaching staff that will help us develop successful players and a championship culture."

With the Wildcats

Couch boasts three seasons and three trips to the NCAA Tournament in his time with Arizona. Under his leadership two players have gone on to earn first round MLB Draft selections and three position players have earned All-America honors. In addition to national accolades, the Couch coached Wildcats have seen nine position players earn Pac-12 All-Conference honors, including four outfielders.

Arizona's 2024 season was an unqualified success, as the Wildcats took what was assumed by outsiders to be a rebuilding year (picked to finish ninth in the Pac-12 Preseason Coaches Poll) and eventually hauled in the Pac-12 regular season & tournament championships while earning a host bid for an NCAA Regional. Couch's prior recruiting classes were largely to credit for the surprising season, with All-Conference pitcher Jackson Kent and outfielder Brendan Summerhill playing large roles in the team's success.

Summerhill, an everyday fixture in the 2024 Wildcats outfield, became the fourth outfielder in three years under Couch's guidance to pick up All-Conference honors. The Chicago native led the Wildcats with a .324 batting average, drove in 59 runs, and notched a pair of crucial walk-off hits including one that clinched Arizona's sixth Pac-12 regular season title.

Couch's 2024 signing class was another talented and diverse group of future Wildcats. The '24 class featured four of Arizona's top 12 prep players, four Perfect Game National Showcase participants, four Area Code Games participants, and more. Three players in the 2024 class were ranked among the top 150 players in the nation, according to Perfect Game.

The 2023 season saw continued success from the Wildcats outfield defense, with Chase Davis, Mac Bingham, and a rotation of right fielders combining to contribute stellar defensive numbers and 10 outfield assists. Davis, the team's everyday starting left fielder, logged five outfield assists, the most by a Wildcat outfielder since 2012.

Following spectacular performances under the guidance of coach Couch, Davis and Bingham both earned a spot on the 2023 Pac-12 All-Conference team, marking the first time since 2012 that two Wildcat outfielders earned All-Conference honors in the same year.

His efforts as the program's recruiting coordinator reeled in another quality group in the 2023 signing class, a cohort that included 10 players ranked in the Perfect Game Top 500 and three who participated in the Area Code Games.

Couch helped steer the 2022 Wildcats to their 41st NCAA Tournament appearance and a 39-25 record that included a winning mark of 17-15 in Pac-12 play. Two positions players under his guidance earned selections in the 2022 MLB Draft: first round pick Daniel Susac and Tanner O'Tremba.

The Wildcats outfield defense, with coaching from Couch, was a bright spot for the team all season long. Regular starters Chase Davis, Mac Bingham, and O'Tremba all posted impressive fielding percentages and combined for six outfield assists.

Couch was also instrumental in building the Wildcats 2022 recruiting class, the program's first under head coach Chip Hale. Arizona's '22 class included four Perfect Game top 10 players from the state of Arizona, seven Area Code Games participants, and three Perfect Game National Showcase participants.

Before Arizona

Coach Couch joined the Wildcats following a four-year stint at South Carolina, where he served as the Gamecocks assistant coach and recruiting coordinator. While in Columbia he helped the program advance to the postseason twice in 2018 and 2021, including a run to the final game of an NCAA Super Regional in 2018.

As the Gamecocks recruiting coordinator, Couch helped build the program's 2020 recruiting class that earned consensus Top 10 praise and a No. 4 national ranking from Perfect Game. Among the standout players developed by Couch at South Carolina is two-time All-American and 2021 Dick Howser Trophy semifinalist, Wes Clarke. During his tenure in Columbia, the Gamecocks had nine players selected in the Major League Baseball Draft.

"I am privileged to join a historic program here at Arizona Baseball," Couch said. "I met coach Hale at Hi Corbett Field in 1999 with USA Baseball and had the privilege to work alongside some legendary Wildcats in Jerry Kindall, Jim Wing, and Bill Kinneberg. This is a tremendous opportunity for me to return to the Tucson community and build on the legacy those men left for us. We are ready to get to work building a successful, sustainable program with the goal of developing champions on the field and off. Tucson is a destination for baseball, and I am excited to hit the recruiting trail with that message and the Block A on my chest. With the help of coach Hale and coach Lawn I know this staff can make Omaha a regular destination for the Wildcats."

Prior to his time with South Carolina, coach Couch spent seven seasons at Houston in his second stint with the Cougars. From 2011-17 he helped guide Houston to two AAC Championships, three NCAA Regional appearances, two of which the program hosted, and one trip to an NCAA Super Regional in 2014. Couch worked with the Cougars outfielders and catchers while assisting head coach Todd Whiting with the coordination of the offense.

Under his direction, the Cougars produced a pair of All-American position players, including utility player Jake Scheiner, who was honored as the program's first consensus All-American since 2006. Houston also picked up three Freshman All-Americans and 19 All-Conference honorees, and one AAC Player of the Year with coach Couch's guidance.

In addition to his first stint with Houston from 1995-2000, Couch has also served as an assistant coach with Texas (2001) and Louisiana-Lafayette (1991-92).

Throughout his coaching career he has made 14 NCAA Regional appearances, three NCAA Super Regional appearances, guided players to 15 All-America selections, and developed 42 position players who went on to become MLB Draft picks.

Prior to joining the UH staff in 1995, Couch served as the marketing and promotions coordinator for the Cougar baseball and football programs in 1994. He also served as a student assistant and bullpen catcher for the Cougars from 1987-1990. Couch was a member of the Team USA coaching staff in 1999.

He is a 1991 graduate of Louisiana-Lafayette, where he earned a bachelor's degree in Restaurant Administration.

Coach Couch is joined in Tucson by his wife, Tiffany. They have two children, Chandler Gray and Kendall Blair.

KEVIN VANCE • ASSISTANT COACH

ALMA MATER: Connecticut (2012)

YEAR AT ARIZONA: 2nd

Kevin Vance was hired to oversee the Arizona pitching staff by head coach Chip Hale on June 12, 2023. He recently finished his first season with the Wildcats in June 2024.

"We are thrilled to add a proven winner in coach Vance to our program," Hale said at the time of his hiring. "Kevin has built pitching staffs with defined identities and found success at every step on his coaching journey. He consistently displays an elite capacity to leverage analytics to maximize each of his pitcher's abilities. Rounding out our staff with a tough worker and tireless recruiter completes this program and sets us up for immediate and long-term success."

With the Wildcats

Vance, with the help of the Wildcats director of player development John DeRouin, helped engineer one of the greatest pitching turnarounds in the nation in 2024. Arizona's pitching staff improved their team ERA over a run and a half from the previous season, marking the 20th largest ERA improvement in the country and the fifth best among Power Five programs. The Wildcats 1.51 delta from the 2023 team's 5.97 ERA created a impressive 4.46 ERA in 2024, the second-best mark in the Pac-12 and the 21st best nationally.

Fueling the Wildcats turnaround was a staff-wide ability to pound the strike zone, which led to Arizona's pitching corps issuing the fewest walks in Division I (149) while leading the nation with a 3.46 strikeout-to-walk ratio and 2.56 BB/9 rate.

Under Vance's guidance, all three of the Wildcats weekend starters picked up Pac-12 All-Conference selections; it is believe to be the first time in program history that three Arizona starting pitchers earned All-Conference recognition. The trio was led by Cam Walty, who posted an 8-2 record with a team-best 3.29 ERA — the right-hander picked up Third Team All-America recognition from the NCBWA and ABCA All-Region Second Team honors for his efforts.

Fellow right-hander Clark Candiotti and southpaw Jackson Kent also earned All-Conference nods after going a combined 10-8 and posting 3.39 and 4.08 ERAs, respectively. Candiotti struck out 103 batters in 95.2 innings, tied for the most in the conference, while Kent fanned 89 in 86.0 innings. In total, Arizona's weekend rotation finished the year posting the 13th best ERA in the country at 3.83.

Along with the three starting pitchers, right-handed reliever Casey Hintz also earned Pac-12 All-Conference Honorable Mention after undergoing a complete redesign of his arm slot and arsenal with Vance in the offseason.

Following the season, four of Vance's pitchers heard their names called during the 2024 MLB Draft, the most arms selected in a single draft for the Wildcats since 2013. Kent, Candiotti, and Walty — the entirety of the Arizona starting rotation — earned draft selections, along with bullpen ace Anthony Susac.

coach and recruiting coordinator at Boston College where in 2023 he helped lead the Eagles to an NCAA Regional berth, their first since 2016.

Vance was a major contributor to Boston College's program record 37 wins this year while crafting the pitching staff's best ERA since 2019. Under his direction, Eagles right-hander and Division III transfer Chris Flynn earned Second Team All-ACC honors after going 7-3 with a team-leading 4.34 ERA and 84 strikeouts.

Following the 2022 season, three pitchers molded by Vance earned a selection in the Major League Baseball Draft.

Prior to his time in Boston, Vance spent five years at the University of Rhode Island, the last four of which he served as the Rams pitching coach and recruiting coordinator. He was promoted into the role after one year as the program's volunteer assistant coach.

Rhode Island ranked top four in the Atlantic 10 Conference in ERA in all five seasons in which they benefited from Vance's coaching, highlighted by a 3.65 mark in 2017 that paced the league and ranked 31st nationally. Across five seasons with the Rams, Vance coached one All-American, two Atlantic 10 All-Conference selections, and three Atlantic 10 Pitchers of the Week.

Before entering the coaching ranks, Vance enjoyed a successful collegiate and professional playing career. As a two-way star at UConn from 2009-11 he picked up two All-Big East selections and an All-America nod as a junior. Vance's 13 saves in 2011 and 21 career saves still stand as the fifth and second best marks in Huskies history, respectively.

Following his collegiate career, the Chicago White Sox selected him in the 19th round of the 2011 MLB Draft. Vance went on to pitch five seasons in organized baseball, reaching as high as Triple-A Reno in 2015. He finished his minor league career with a 20-14 record, 15 saves, 365 strikeouts, and a 3.81 ERA across 177 games.

Vance earned his undergraduate degree in Coaching and Sport Administration from UConn in 2012 and returned to school to earn a master's degree in Sports Leadership from Northeastern in 2016.

TOBY DeMELLO • ASSISTANT COACH

ALMA MATER: Saint Mary's (2012)

YEAR AT ARIZONA: 4th

Toby DeMello was hired by Head Coach Chip Hale and joined the Wildcats coaching staff as a Volunteer Assistant Coach on July 22, 2021; he was promoted to Assistant Coach after two years in Tucson on July 6, 2023. He enters his fourth season at Arizona in 2025.

With the Wildcats

Much of the Wildcats success over the last three years can be attributed to the work of coach DeMello, who has established himself as one of the premier young offensive and catcher minds in the game. Arizona has proudly claimed a trio of NCAA Tournament berths, two first round MLB Draft selections, three position player All-Americans, and more under DeMello.

Faced with the departure of an overwhelming majority of their production from the year before, DeMello and the Wildcats set out to redefine their offense for the 2024 season. His third roster in Tucson would play less towards power and home runs and more in favor of speed, opportunistic base running, productive outs, and timely hitting. The resulting product featured yet another group leading the Pac-12 in triples — for the third time in three years — the most stolen bases by an Arizona team in eight years, and a remarkable eight walk-off victories.

The trio of infielders Garen Caulfield and Mason White, along with outfielder Brendan Summerhill, combined to fuel DeMello's offensive attack and earned a trio of Pac-12 All-Conference selections. Summerhill led the team and ranked 14th in the conference with a .324 batting average, Caulfield raised his batting average nearly 100 points and paced the team with 19 doubles, and White crushed a team-leading 19 home runs while piling up 65 RBI. White's prolific slugging season earned him a spot on the ABCA's West All-Region First Team.

TOBY DeMELLO COACHING HISTORY

- 2022-current: Arizona, Assistant Coach
- 2019-21: Sacramento State, Volunteer Assistant Coach
- 2018: Southern Illinois, Bullpen/Catching Coach
- 2017: Occidental College, Hitting Coach
- 2016-17: Sierra College

Under DeMello's leadership, the Wildcats collected a pair of Pac-12 Championships (regular season & tournament) and earned their first NCAA Regional host bid since 2021.

DeMello and the Wildcats built off their tremendous offensive success in 2022 to create one of the most dynamic, explosive offenses in the entire nation in 2023, rewriting large portions of the Arizona record books in the process. The Wildcats offense finished the year first in the Pac-12 in batting average, slugging percentage, doubles, triples, and extra-base hits. The Arizona lineup also ranked among the most dangerous in the entire country, finishing the year ranked among the Top 20 teams nationally in batting average, doubles, doubles per game, hits, runs, scoring, slugging percentage, triples, and triples per game.

As a unit, the 2023 Arizona offense hit the second most home runs in program history (98), picked up the fifth most doubles all-time (151), and ranked fourth in the Wildcat record books in both slugging percentage (.549) and total bases (1,186).

Players the likes of Chase Davis, Tony Bullard, Mac Bingham, Kiko Romero, Emilio Corona, and more all posted career years with DeMello's guidance in 2023. Davis and Romero both went on to earn All-America selections, while Mason White picked up Freshman All-America recognition.

Romero put together one of the most prolific slugging seasons in program history and with DeMello's help broke the Arizona single-season RBI record at 89. Romero and Davis both blasted 21 home runs in 2023, tied for third most in program history and the Pac-12 lead.

In his first season with the Wildcats in 2022, DeMello helped shape one of the most dynamic and dangerous offenses on the West Coast. With his help, Arizona finished among the top four teams in the Pac-12 in runs, hits, triples, home runs, RBI, walks, total bases, and extra-base hits. The Wildcats averaged over 6.5 runs per game and paced the conference with 26 triples, marking the sixth time since moving to Hi Corbett Field in 2012 that Arizona led the Pac-12 in baseball's most exciting play.

DeMello also oversaw the development of the Wildcats catchers, led by unanimous All-American and first round MLB Draft selection Daniel Susac. In his sophomore campaign Susac posted just the 10th 100-hit season in Arizona Baseball history while notching a .987 fielding percentage on a team-high 452 chances and throwing out nine attempted base stealers. Freshman Tommy Splaine and Cameron LaLiberte also saw time behind the dish and contributed to the team's success.

Before Arizona

DeMello joined the Wildcats after spending three seasons at Sacramento State from 2019-21. He began his tenure with the Hornets serving as the program's Director of Operation and Analytics in 2019 before moving into the volunteer assistant role for the 2020 and 2021 campaigns.

"Coach DeMello is tremendous addition to our staff who will greatly advance the development of our student-athletes," Hale said at the time of his hiring. "His experience as both a Division I and professional athlete helps him connect with his players and build their skill sets for long-term success. Coach DeMello has won everywhere he has gone, and I expect that trend to continue as we look to make our push back to Omaha."

While at Sacramento State, DeMello's primary duties included serving as the team's catching coach, assisting with the hitters, aligning the defense, and coaching first base. Under his direction, the Hornets posted a record of 84-54 (.609) and improved their team batting average from .235 in 2019 to an impressive .283 in 2021. In his first season at Sacramento State the team qualified for their third Division I NCAA Regional, during which they collected a win over No. 18 UC Santa Barbara. Under DeMello's guidance, six Hornets earned All-WAC First and Second Team recognition.

DeMello's coaching journey has also seen him make stops at Southern Illinois (2018), Occidental College (2017), and Sierra College (2016-17).

As a player, DeMello logged four seasons as a catcher at Saint Mary's College in California. He logged time in 156 games during his collegiate career, was selected as a semifinalist for the Johnny Bench Award in 2012, and earned All-West Coast Conference recognition in 2011.

Following his collegiate career he was selected by the Seattle Mariners in the 29th round of the 2012 Major League Baseball Draft. DeMello enjoyed a five-year professional baseball career that included time working with MLB pitchers Edwin Diaz, Dan Altavilla, and Kyle Barraclough.

DeMello is a 2012 graduate of Saint Mary's College with a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration.

JOHN DeROUIN • DIRECTOR OF PITCHING PERFORMANCE AND STRATEGY

YEAR AT ARIZONA: 2nd

John DeRouin was hired by head coach Chip Hale as Arizona Baseball's Director of Player Development on Aug. 23, 2023. He completed his first season with the Wildcats in June 2024 and was promoted to Director of Pitching Performance and Strategy in July 2024.

Along with assistant coach Kevin Vance, DeRouin helped develop the Wildcats pitching staff to one of the most successful units in the nation in 2024. Arizona's pitching staff improved their team ERA over a run and a half from the previous season, marking the 20th largest ERA improvement in the country and the fifth best among Power Five programs. The Wildcats 1.51 delta from the 2023 team's 5.97 ERA created a impressive 4.46 ERA in 2024, the second-best mark in the Pac-12 and the 21st best nationally.

Fueling the Wildcats turnaround was a staff-wide ability to pound the strike zone, which led to Arizona's pitching corps issuing the fewest walks in Division I (149) while leading the nation with a 3.46 strikeout-to-walk ratio and 2.56 BB/9 rate.

DeRouin and Vance helped four Arizona pitchers pick up Pac-12 All-Conference selections, including all three members of the Arizona weekend rotation; it is believe to be the first time in program history that three Arizona starting pitchers earned All-Conference recognition. Right-hander Cam Walty led the charge and picked up NCBWA Third Team All-America recognition for his efforts.

Following the season, four of DeRouin's pitchers heard their names called during the 2024 MLB Draft, the most arms selected in a single draft for the Wildcats since 2013. Kent, Candiotti, and Walty — the entirety of the Arizona starting rotation — earned draft selections, along with bullpen ace Anthony Susac.

JOHN DeROUIN COACHING HISTORY

- 2025–current: Arizona, Director of Pitching Performance and Strategy
- 2023–2024: Arizona, Director of Player Development
- 2022–23: Detroit Tigers, Rehab Pitching Coordinator
- 2019–22: Hop's Athletic Performance, Pitching Coordinator & Instructor
- 2020–22: North East Baseball (NEB), Pitching Coordinator, Instructor & Coach
- 2019–20: New England Scorpions, Pitching Coach

DeRouin joined the Wildcats after a year serving as a rehab pitching coordinator for the Detroit Tigers. Previous stops for DeRouin include four years as a pitching coordinator and instructor with Hop's Athletic Performance in Rhode Island, three years as a pitching coordinator, instructor, and coach with North East Baseball, and two years as a pitching coach with the New England Scorpions.

"Coach DeRouin is a bright, young mind that we're excited to add to our staff," Hale said at the timing of his hiring. "Our director of player development plays a vital role to the success of our program, and I believe his knowledge and insight will be exceedingly valuable to every pitcher on our staff. Our team places advanced technology at the core of our pitcher development program and coach DeRouin will help us continue to shape and enhance that curriculum."

Primary responsibilities for DeRouin include the assessment and development of Arizona pitchers. DeRouin's previous coaching experience has developed proficiencies with Trackman, Trumedia, Hawkeye/Kinatrax, and other advanced technology while also earning him Driveline Baseball certifications in Foundations of Pitching and Basics of Pitch Design.

DeRouin attended Community College of Rhode Island from 2018-20 and spent time pitching for the Knights while in school.

TERRY FRANCONA
TWO-TIME WORLD SERIES CHAMPION

Terry Francona, one of the most accomplished Wildcats in program history, managed the 2004 and 2007 Boston Red Sox teams to World Series championships.

Francona's 2004 squad finished the regular season with a 98-64 record, the second-best mark in the American League. After the Red Sox swept the Anaheim Angels, 3-0, in the Division Series they fell behind the New York Yankees, three games to none, to open the Championship Series. The Red Sox then rattled off four consecutive wins to complete one of the greatest comebacks in MLB history and advance to the World Series. Boston swept the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0, to win the 2004 World Series and snap an 86-year Red Sox championship drought.

His 2007 Red Sox team earned a playoff berth following their first AL East divisional title since 1995. Boston again swept Anaheim, 3-0, in the Division Series to advance to the ALCS, where they faced the Cleveland Indians. The Red Sox opened the Championship Series in a 3-1 hole before rattling off three straight victories to clinch a World Series berth. Boston handily swept the Colorado Rockies, 4-0, to win the 2007 World Series Championship.

Francona to this day remains the only manager in Major League Baseball history to win each of his first eight World Series games. He proudly boasts three pennants, two World Series titles, and a 44-34 (.564) postseason winning percentage.

1976 National Champions

The 1976 baseball team won the first of the University of Arizona's 16 national championships in school history.

After posting a 48-16 regular season record, the Cats cruise through the Midwest Regional in Edinburg, Texas, scoring 23 times in three games while surrendering only a total of three runs. Arizona shutout Pan American, 5-0, behind the pitching of Steve Powers' five hitter in the opening game of the regional. Missouri provided little challenge in game two, as UA raced out to 5-1 lead through six and added two more in the seventh and three in the eighth for a 10-1 victory.

Every Wildcat starter had at least one hit in the game and eight of the starting nine scored at least once. With a trip to the College World Series on the line, the Wildcats left no doubt as to who it would be, as Arizona dismantled Texas A&M, 8-2. Sophomore Dave Crutcher struck out 12 Aggies in a complete game performance on the mound.

In Omaha, Arizona lost a game early, but never lost hope. Up 4-2 through seven innings in its first game in Omaha, UA stumbled, 7-6, in 10-innings to rival Arizona State to fall into the losers bracket.

Down, but not out, the Cats rallied after their initial loss. UA bested Oklahoma, 10-2, in game two behind a 5-for-6, two RBI, three run performance by All-American Ron Hassey. In game three, against Clemson, Arizona jumped out to an early 6-1 lead and held on for a 10-6 victory. Don Zimmerman and Pete Van Horne supplied the fireworks against the Tigers, combining for five hits, five RBIs and five runs scored.

Eastern Michigan, whom the Cats would see again in the title game was up next. Les Pearsey's three run home run in the fifth brought the Cats back from an early deficit and a five run ninth earned the Cats a 11-6 win and a chance at redemption for their lone CWS loss.

Facing the Sun Devils for the eighth time in 1976 the Wildcats, and more importantly Steve Powers, had Arizona State's number. Working a complete game, Powers surrendered only four hits and a lone unearned run in the bottom of the ninth for a 5-1 win and a berth in the fourth title-game in school history.

Facing Eastern Michigan for the second time in the series, the result was very much the same, as UA crushed the Eagles 7-1 for the national championship. Dave Stegman and Powers each had three RBIs in the game and Rob Chaulk tossed a complete game six hitter.

Designated hitter/pitcher Powers was named the World Series MVP after completing the six games 8-for-22 (.364) with six RBIs and two home runs, including a two-run shot in the championship game. He also worked 17.1 innings on the mound, including the complete game, four hitter against Arizona State in the semifinal game. He struck out 10 in two appearances.

Coach Jerry Kindall, who became the first person to both play for and coach a national championship team, was honored with the Coach of the Year Award by the ABCA, the first of three such awards that he would win during his tenure at UA.

1980 National Champions

With the lessons learned from the College World Series experience in 1979, the Wildcats nabbed their second national championship in baseball. Powered by Golden Spikes Award winner and College World Series MVP Terry Francona at the plate and Craig Lefferts on the mound, the 1980 team was on a mission for the championship.

Opening the season with a three game series against defending national champion Cal-State Fullerton, UA set the early tone for the season by taking a pair of games from the Titans. However, the Cats found themselves with a very average 17-11-3 record 31 games into the season, but a sweep over Colorado in the final non-conference series of the year propelled the Cats to 14 wins in their next 17 games. In the final series of the season, against Arizona State, the Cats faced their instate rival with a 31-14-3 record. With Arizona needing only one win to qualify for the NCAA tournament, the Sun Devils pushed UA to the final regular season game before succumbing to a dominate Wildcat team, 22-4. Including the West Regional, hosted by Arizona, a school record 113,951 fans came out to Wildcat Field to watch the Cats in 1980, an average of over 3,250 fans per game.

In what was considered the toughest regional in the country, sixth-ranked Arizona came from behind to top ninth-ranked Fresno State and thrice beat upstart Gonzaga, which had upset defending national champion Cal-State Fullerton twice, to advance to its second consecutive College World Series, its 12th overall appearance.

Much like the 1976 championship team, the Cats dropped their first game of the College World Series losing, 6-1, to St. John's. Battling back from the losers bracket, freshman sensation Ed Vosberg earned his sixth win of the season with a 5-3 victory over Florida State. Lefferts shut down Big Ten power Michigan 8-0 in game three, handcuffing the Wolverines on five hits, while striking out seven.

Up next was the only undefeated team left in World Series play, the Hawaii Rainbows. Arizona's chances for a second national title looked bleak as the Rainbows held a 2-0 lead into the eighth. Faced with tournament elimination, Scott Stanley launched a 380-foot grand slam into a 15 m.p.h. wind to give Cats a 4-2 advantage. UH responded with a pair of runs of its own in the bottom of the of the eighth to tie the score and send the game into extra innings. In the 11th, Dwight Taylor and John Moses came up back-to-back triples to open the inning, giving the Cats the lead. After tacking on an insurance run for a 6-4 advantage, Greg Barger closed out the victory on the mound for his seventh win of the season.

Arizona's incredible ride continued for another day. In what many considered to be the national championship game, the Cats met up with Pac-10 foe Cal for the right to advance to the title game. A seesaw shootout between the Bears and Cats ensued. Cal jumped out to a 8-3 lead through four innings, but the persevarent Cats chalked up five of their own in the fifth to tie the game. Not to be outdone, the Bears plated two of their own in the sixth for a 10-8 advantage. The cornered Cats clawed their way back with a run in the eighth and two in the ninth to steal the win, 11-10, and advance to the World Series title game, a re-match with Hawaii.

Unlike the two previous games, the title game offered very little surprises as Arizona built up a 5-1 lead on UH, and held on for a 5-3 victory. Coach Kindall was quoted as saying "there was no way Hawaii was going to beat us.". Pitching heroes Lefferts and Barger earned the win and save, respectively, in the title game.

The two hurlers were both named to the All-World Series team. Lefferts posted a 2–0 record with a 0.57 ERA and nine strikeouts in 15.2 innings pitched. Barger earned two saves and a win in 10.1 innings. He struck out 10 while surrendering only one earned run. World Series MVP Francona recorded an impressive .458 batting average (11-for-24) while swatting a home run, two doubles and a triple. He drove in six and scored seven times in six games. Also named to the All-World Series team was first baseman Wes Clements. Clements finished the series hitting .318 (7-for-22) with two home runs and two doubles. He drove in five and scored five times as well. Coach Kindall was named Coach of the Year for the second time.

1986 National Champions

Returning all eight starters in field, the Wildcats won their third national championship in baseball. The Wildcat Nine started the season ranked third in the country and after splitting a two game series with Grand Canyon, Arizona faced Division II foe Cal-State Dominguez Hills. Behind the coaching of current Wildcat skipper Andy Lopez; the Toros shocked the Cats by taking two of three at Sancet Field. Despite the early setback, the Cats got back on track and jumped out to a 23-12 record at the midpoint of the season. The Cats went on a roll in the second half of the regular season, finishing 10-3 in their final 13 games, including a sweep over Arizona State in the regular season series finale. Arizona finished tied with Stanford for second place in the Pac-10 South and received an at-large bid for the NCAA Tournament.

Sent to Austin, Texas, Arizona breezed through the Central Region. The Cats crushed San Diego State 26-5 in their opening game in postseason play. The first three hitters in Arizona's order, Tommy Hinzo, Chip Hale and Mike Senne, combine for 10 of Arizona's 25 hits in the game, 11 RBIs and seven runs scored. Against host school Texas, the Cats broke open the contest with five runs in fifth, en route to a 9-3 win. In the next game. a six-run third proved to be more then Pepperdine could handle in a 10-6 UA win, giving the Cats control of the region. The Waves put up a fight in the regional championship game, but the Cats' Gil Heredia tossed a complete game for his 15th win of the season in UA's 5-3 win. The victory pushed the Cats' season to Omaha and the 14th College World Series appearance in school history.

In what is considered to be one of the most dramatic games in College World Series history, Arizona and Maine's opening round game provided fireworks down to the final pitch and proved that no opponent's lead was safe while facing Kindall's "Cardiac Kids". Down 7-0 through the first six and a half innings, the Wildcats rallied for a run in the seventh, four in the eighth and three in the ninth to steal the victory from the Black Bears, 8-7. Dave Shermet's name will long be remembered by Wildcats fans for his ninth inning heroics in that opening game. In a scene from every ballplayer's childhood dreams, the pinch-hitting sophomore lined a full-count, two-out pitch over the scoreboard in left field for a walk-off, two-run homer. Senior Joe Estes, who would win a pair of games out of the bullpen for Arizona in the CWS, was the beneficiary of Shermet's heroics, earning the victory with a perfect inning of relief.

The come-from-behind method of victory would be a tactic employed by the Wildcats throughout the CWS. In game seven of the series, the Cats trailed Loyola Marymount, 5-4, through six innings. Todd Trafton's two-run homer in the seventh gave them the lead and an insurance run in the eighth provided an extra run in the 7-5 Arizona victory. Game One winner Estes tallied his second win in as many games on the mound. The left-hander came on in relief of starter Gary Alexander and shut down the Lions bats with 3 1/3 innings of two-hit work.

Florida State jumped out to a quick 5-1 lead through the first two innings in Game 11, but future Major Leaguer Gil Heredia settled down on the mound and limited the Seminole offense to only four hits over the final seven innings in a complete game performance. The Wildcat bats bailed Heredia out with a five-run sixth, three of which came on Mike Senne's home run to left-center. The Cats went on to win, 9-5, for their third victory in Omaha.

Miami (Fla.) ruined Arizona's perfect run through the series with a 4-2 win in Game 13, but true to fashion, the Wildcats had a chance to come back. Arizona scored once in the ninth to make it a two run lead and had the tying runs on first and third when the final out was recorded.

Arizona's lone loss in the '86 World Series didn't temper the Cats in the championship game. Arizona exploded for 10 runs on 11 hits against Florida State. Starter Alexander tossed a complete game for his eighth win of the season, defeating 20-game winner Mike Loynd in the process. Gar Millay went 3-for-4 in the game with a home run, three RBIs and two runs scored. World Series MVP Senne was 2-for-5 with a home run, two RBIs and two runs scored. He finished the five-game series 10-for-21 (.476) with two home runs, eight runs scored and six RBI.

2012 National Champions

Invigorated by the transition to Hi Corbett Field, Arizona baseball re-established itself as one of the premier programs across the nation in 2012. Excitement and optimism surrounded the program leading up to Opening Weekend against North Dakota State, and nearly 9,000 turned out to the old, but new home of Arizona baseball on a few chilly late February days. Hall of Fame coach Jerry Kindall was joined by fellow coaches Jim Wing and Jerry Stitt, along with over 100 baseball alums, including 1980 Golden Spikes Award winner Terry Francona, to unify support for the program stepping into a promising new era.

Arizona boasted a veteran offensive lineup that kept it ranked consistently in the top-20 of the national polls throughout the season. Momentum began to build by mid-season, when the Wildcats swept then-No. 2 Stanford in three games at Hi Corbett Field. The series drew 10,756 fans, the most for a three-game home set in more than 20 seasons. It was a weekend that proved two things: 1) Arizona could compete with any team in the country, and 2) the Wildcats had a true home field advantage with large and spirited crowds that would be attractive in the bidding process to host postseason games.

The Wildcats stumbled upon two bumps in the road as they hit the second half of the season. Despite winning the opening-game of a three-game showdown against UCLA, the Wildcats dropped their first weekend series of the season in mid- April. A few weeks later, Arizona dropped out of the Pac-12 lead when Oregon took two-of-three from the Cats in Tucson. From that point on, Arizona was in playoff mode if it wished to contend for the Pac-12 Championship and host an NCAA regional for the first time since 1992.

Arizona promptly swept California, won a non-conference tilt in Tempe against Arizona State, and won two-of-three at USC to post an impressive 6-1 record on a season-long seven-game road swing. That kept the Cats in position for a Pac-12 Championship going into the final weekend, but they still trailed the Oregon Ducks by one full game and UCLA was just a game behind the Wildcats. Alas, Oregon was swept by its rival, Oregon State, while the Bruins swept their rival, USC. Arizona captured a pair of thrilling walk-off wins on a weekend that drew 14,055 fans to Hi Corbett Field, the second win coming on the final day of the season when Johnny Field lined a single into left field to secure the Wildcats the Pac-12 Co-Championship with UCLA, the Wildcats' first league crown since 1992.

On that final Sunday in May, Arizona also learned that it would host an NCAA Regional for the first time since 1992. The following weekend, the Wildcats hosted Missouri, Louisville and New Mexico State in the double-elimination tournament. Arizona's opening game was a 15-3 rout of the Tigers before a crowd of more than 5,000. A day later, the Wildcats dismantled Louisville, 16-4, before more than 4,000 fans. And on a Sunday evening, Arizona again clobbered the Cardinals, 16-3, to advance to the Super Regionals for the first time since 1988. That same day, No. 6 national seed North Carolina was upset in Chapel Hill by St. John's, opening the door for the Wildcats to host the Red Storm in the Super Regionals the following weekend.

Due to television obligations, the Tucson Super Regional games were slated for noon starts in the summer heat. It did not faze the Wildcats or their fans. An enthusiastic throng of 2,500 showed up on a Friday afternoon – a work day nonetheless – to witness a most thrilling comeback. Behind ace Kurt Heyer, the Wildcats fell behind the Red Storm, 5-0. But Heyer remained resilient, buying his offense enough time to chip away at the deficit and eventually tie the game 5-5. The game went into the 10th inning, when Heyer, who was still pitching despite giving up a career-high 17 hits, allowed the go-ahead run.

Arizona had one more rally left in the tank, scoring a pair of runs in the bottom half of the inning, including a walkoff single by freshman Trent Gilbert to hand the hosts a 6-5 extra-inning victory. A day later, right-hander Konner Wade tossed a complete game and the Wildcats outscored the Red Storm, 7-4, before nearly 4,000 sun-drenched fans who stayed to celebrate Arizona clinching a berth to the College World Series for the 16th time in school history.

Arizona arrived in Omaha a week later as one of the hottest teams in the country, winners in 13 of their last 15 ballgames, including six straight and all five in the postseason. Still, top-seed Florida, second-seed UCLA and two-time defending national champion South Carolina were the favorites. Arizona's first opponent, Florida State, was coached by Mike Martin, in search of his first national championship despite 15 appearances in Omaha. The Wildcats were even overshadowed by Cinderella stories from Stony Brook and Kent State, making the first appearance for their respective schools. However, over the course of the next two weeks, the 2012 Wildcats cemented their place in College World Series lore as one of the most dominant teams in recent memory.

The Wildcats opened eyes by winning their first game against the Seminoles in dramatic fashion. Locked in a 3-3 tie, the game turned into a battle of the bullpens, presumed to be an Arizona weakness, in the late stages. A pair of freshmen – Tyler Crawford and Mathew Troupe – went toe-to-toe against the more heralded 'Noles bullpen and pitched 4.1 shutout innings. Then in the top of the 12th, Joey Rickard roped a one-out double to left-center and Johnny Field followed with a run-scoring double to right-center to hand the Wildcats a 4-3 edge. Troupe closed the door in the bottom of the inning, ending the game with a strikeout and stranding the tying run at third base for the victory.

A showdown with Pac-12 co-champion UCLA awaited, and again it was the Arizona pitching that stole the show. Wade tossed his second-consecutive complete game in the postseason, limiting the Bruins to just five hits in a 4-0 shutout win. Wade, who retired the first 14 batters of the game in order, became the first pitcher to throw a complete game shutout at the College World Series without a walk on his pitching line since 1972. He received all the run support he needed in a four-run fourth inning that held up as the final score and put Arizona in the driver's seat with three days of rest before its next game. Heyer and the Wildcats watched as Florida State eliminated the Bruins, to set up a rematch with the Seminoles. With a berth to the championship series on the line, Arizona wasted no time jumping out to a big lead. The Wildcats scored six firstinning runs and later added homers from Robert Refsnyder and Bobby Brown en route to a dominating 10-3 romp over Florida State. Heyer pitched into the eighth inning for the fourth time in as many postseason starts, and he earned his 13th victory of the season to take over the national lead.

South Carolina, which had lost its second game of the CWS to Arkansas, furiously fought back through the loser's bracket and defeated the Razorbacks twice to earn a spot in the championship finals for the third straight year. On paper, it was another classic Arizona offense vs. opponent's pitching. But Arizona's pitching staff was quietly becoming the key to success in the postseason.

Arizona sent Wade to the mound in the opening game, and the Scottsdale native delivered another dazzling pitching performance. Boosted by a two-run homer by Refsnyder in the first inning, the Wildcats rode the arm of Wade to an impressive 5-1 victory over the Gamecocks. Wade was masterful, allowing just six hits and a walk in his third-straight complete game performance of the postseason. He also became the first pitcher to toss two complete games at the College World Series since 2004, and put the Wildcats one win away from their fourth national championship.

Andy Lopez faced a difficult decision heading into the second game of the championship series. He could send his ace to the mound on short rest and match him up against South Carolina's postseason hero, Michael Roth, who was scheduled to throw on three days of rest. Instead, Lopez opted to send out No. 3 starter James Farris, who had not pitched in a game for 22 days since he shut out Louisville in the final game of the Tucson Regional.

Farris pitched perhaps the best game of his young career, matching up with the
All-American from South Carolina. The Wildcat right-hander tossed 7.2 innings, allowed only a pair of hits and just one run, exiting with two down in a 1-1 tie and the go-ahead run on base in the eighth inning. Troupe entered to strikeout the final hitter in the eighth, stranding the go-ahead run and sending the Wildcats back to the dugout with the momentum. Refsnyder, the 2012 Most Outstanding Player at the College World Series, led off the top of the ninth with a single. He was bunted to second base, before Bobby Brown drew an intentional walk that put defensive replace Brandon Dixon at the plate with one down. Hitless in his limited at bats in Omaha, Dixon ripped a slider down the third base lined for an RBI double. One batter later, Gilbert lined a two-run single to right field to open a three-run lead for the Wildcats. Troupe, despite loading the bases and allowing the winning run to step to the plate with one out, escaped the jam with a lineout and a flyout to capture the national championship with a 4-1 victory.

The Wildcats returned to Tucson a day later and were greeted by over 5,000 crazed fans at McKale Center celebrating the national championship trophy returning to Tucson for the first time since 1986. Much like they did on Opening Weekend, former coaches Kindall, Wing and Stitt were on hand to celebrate the school's fourth national championship. It was a fitting end to a magical season as the past and present of Arizona baseball helped set the stage for a bright future in the years to come. Indeed, Arizona is back amongst the nation's elite.

HI CORBETT FIELD

HI CORBETT FIELD

Beginning in 2012, Hi Corbett Field became the new home of Arizona Baseball. Located approximately two miles southeast of the University of Arizona campus, Hi Corbett Field is the former Spring Training home of the Colorado Rockies and Cleveland Indians and offers Major League-caliber amenities to the UA baseball program.

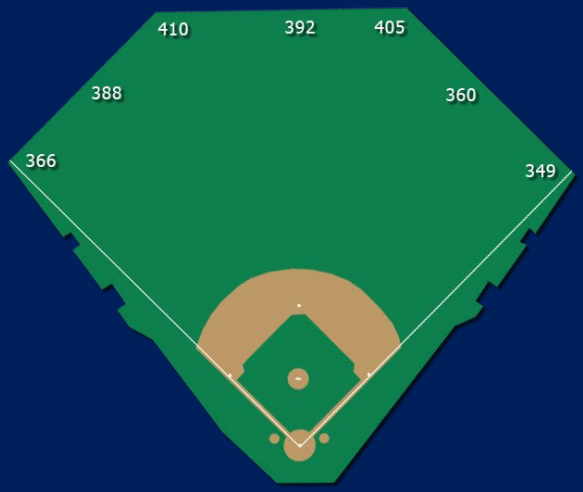

The historic ballpark has a capacity of 9,000 and includes spacious concourses, hundreds of box seats, and large grandstands behind home plate and down each base line complete with chair-back seating to create one of the best gameday environments for fans in the nation. Down each foul line are additional oversized grandstands with bleacher seats, and down the right field foul line lies the home bullpen protected by shade trees.

The stadium has an abundance of amenities for visitors, including large concessions stands and restrooms. The venue is handicapped accessible and includes nearly 1,000 parking spaces in the surrounding areas. A roof extends from atop the press box and provides shade on sunny days to the seats behind home plate.

The home clubhouse was renovated following the team's run to the College World Series finals in 2016. Included in the renovation was the construction of the Terry Francona hitting center beyond the wall in right field. Further renovations to the home clubhouse and support areas were completed during the offseason following the 2022 campaign.

HI CORBETT HISTORY

Hi Corbett Field sits in the heart of mid-town Tucson and is nestled inside Gene C. Reid Park. Over the left field fence is the Reid Park Zoo and to the east behind the third-base grandstands are the greens to the second hole at Randolph North Golf Course and the fourth hole at Dell Urich Golf Course — yes, two 18-hole municipal courses. Surrounding views include the Santa Catalina Mountains to the north, the Rincon Mountains to the east, the Santa Rita Mountains to the south and the Tucson Mountains to the west.

Tucson's most centrally-located park, walking and biking paths, a lake, picnic areas and ball fields complete the spacious confines of Reid Park. Other nearby attractions includes Randolph Recreation Center, the El Con Mall, shopping centers, and dining establishments.

Hi Corbett Field was built in 1927 and originally named Randolph Municipal Baseball Park. The initial home teams in the early years included the Tucson Waddies and the Tucson Cowboys of the Arizona State League. In 1931, the Tucson Missions played in the Arizona-Texas League and the Tucson Lizards were the name in 1932. From 1933-1958 the Tucson Cowboys occupied the ballpark.

In 1946, the Cleveland Indians moved their spring training operations to Tucson. Hiram Steven Corbett, a long-time Arizona state senator and president of the Tucson Baseball Commission, played a key role in luring the Indians. Corbett worked with Bill Veeck, then owner of the Indians, to make the deal happen.

In the Cactus League's inaugural opener on March 8, 1946, Bob Lemon got the win as the Indians defeated the Giants 3-1. In 1951, the City of Tucson renamed the ballpark in honor of Corbett and it has since been known simply as Hi Corbett Field.

For 46 years, it was the home of Indians for spring training. In 1992, the Indians announced they were moving their spring training location to Florida. The Colorado Rockies, a new expansion franchise, immediately moved into the facility in the spring of 1993. The club remained through 2010.

The ballpark was the home of the Tucson Toros, a Class-AAA affiliate, from 1969-1997. But when the Arizona Diamondbacks and Chicago White Sox opened the Kino Sports Complex as a spring training site, the Tucson Toros permanently moved to the new park and became known as the Tucson Sidewinders. Thereafter, USA baseball, the Arizona Heat of National Pro Fastpitch and the Golden Baseball League's Tucson Toros have been headquartered at Hi Corbett.

On Aug. 10, 2011, the University of Arizona Department of Intercollegiate Athletics announced that the baseball program was moving its operation permanently to Hi Corbett Field. The move became official months later when a lease agreement was signed by the school and the City of Tucson.

The school has a long and storied history of playing games at Hi Corbett Field, though most games date back to the 1940's, 50's, 60's and early 70's. The Wildcats often played double-headers where the afternoon contest was played on campus at UA Field (now current location of main library) and the nightcap was hosted under the lights at Hi Corbett Field. Arizona's rivalry games with Arizona State were also frequently played off-campus in the evenings, as were the NCAA District Playoffs.

The first-ever collegiate night game played in Tucson was on April 26, 1940 when Arizona hosted New Mexico. The Wildcats won, 8-0, but the night was highlighted by hurler Ken Heist who struck out 21 batsmen in his final collegiate game. At the time it was believed to be a school record and remains the top mark in program history to this day.

In 1967, the Arizona baseball program proudly opened Wildcat Field and added lights to the facility during the 1975 season. With a lighted ballpark on campus, the need to play games at Hi Corbett faded away. The on-campus venue was renamed Frank Sancet Stadium in 1986 and later to Jerry Kindall Field at Frank Sancet Stadium in 2003. The ballpark hosted 1,604 games from 1967-2011, with the Wildcats winning 1,114 games against 486 losses and four ties.
